

Lucienne Boyce

Lucienne Boyce writes historical fiction, non-fiction and biography. She has a particular interest in women's history and the women's suffrage movement, and is keen to tell the stories of the lesser-known individuals involved in that movement. Her meticulously researched historical fiction reflects her interest in stories of "ordinary" people, and histories of reform and protest. She is also a speaker, and blogs about the eighteenth century, suffrage and women's history, books, and writing.

Historical Fiction

Her historical novels to date are To The Fair Land (an eighteenth-century thriller); and the Dan Foster Mystery Series which follows the adventures of a Bow Street Runner in the 1790s, comprising:-

Bloodie Bones (joint winner the Historical Novel Society Indie Award 2016; semi finalist for the M M Bennetts Historical Fiction Award 2016)

The Butcher's Block (IndieBRAG Medallion, Chill With A Book Readers' Award)

Death Makes No Distinction (Indie BRAG Medallion; Discovering Diamonds Book of the Month; Chill With a Book Premier Readers' Award)

The Contraband Killings (IndieBRAG Medallion)

The Fatal Coin (prequel novella)

Non-Fiction

The Bristol Suffragettes – a history of the militant suffrage campaign.

Other publications:-

'Not So Militant Browne, in Suffrage Stories: Tales from Knebworth, Stevenage, Hitchin and Letchworth (Stevenage Museum, 2019)

'Victoria Lidiard' The Women Who Built Bristol, Jane Duffus (Tangent Books, 2018)

'Tramgirls, Tommies and the Vote', Bristol and the First World War: The Great Reading Adventure 2014 (Bristol Cultural Development Partnership/Bristol Festival of Ideas, 2014)

Work in Progress

She is currently writing a biography of suffrage campaigner and pacifist, Millicent Price (née Browne), and a collaborative project with Antonia Raeburn (The Militant Suffragettes, 1974) based on Antonia's interviews with former suffragettes in the 1960s and 1970s. Antonia died in 2021 and Lucienne is completing that project. She is also working on a murder mystery set in the early 1900s.

Events

Lucienne has spoken at numerous literary festivals including the Cheltenham Festival of Literature (Locally Sourced); the Bristol Festival of Ideas; the Bristol Festival of Literature; the Wreccam Carnival of Words; the Discover Festival; Penzance Festival; the Hawkesbury Upton Literary Festival, Backwell Festival, and Worcester Literary Festival.

In 2018 she was instrumental in devising and delivering Votes for Women 100, a programme of commemorative events by the West of England and South Wales Women's History Network in partnership with Bristol M Shed, Bristol Libraries and others. She also co-wrote a Votes for Women 100 Exhibition, and campaigned and raised funds for the installation of a Blue Plaque for the Bristol and West of England Women's Suffrage Society. In addition, she has advised on other Blue Plaque projects.

She has given talks to a number of organisations, including the University of Bristol; branches of the Women's Institute, the Soroptimists and the Townswomen's Guild; the University of the Third Age; Novel Nights; Bristol Libraries; the Friends of the Women's Library, the English Speaking Union, HMP Bristol (where she also advised on the installation of a Blue Plaque), and local history groups.

She has led suffrage walks for Bristol Walking Festival; Friends of Bristol Museums, Galleries and Archives; the University of Bristol, and other groups.

She has run workshops on writing historical fiction and self-publishing, and also tutored a course on women's suffrage.

Media

Lucienne has made numerous appearances on television (including BBC Points West, ITV West Country News, Politics West) and radio (BBC Radio Bristol, BBC Radio Wiltshire, Radio Ujima, BCfm, 10 Radio, Heart Radio, Talk Radio Europe), and was a radio presenter with BCfm Community Radio. She has guested on podcasts including Bristol History Podcast and Writers' Routine, and written articles, interviews and reviews in various publications including Bristol Times, Clifton Life, The Local Historian, Historical Novels Review (Historical Novel Society), Nonesuch, Bristol 24/7, Liberti, etc.

Memberships

Lucienne is long-term member of the Historical Novel Society, and has written articles, interviews, reviews and edited a newsletter for the HNS. She has been a member of the West of England and South Wales Women's History Network for many years, and served on the WESWWHN Steering Committee. Other memberships are the Friends of the Women's Library, the Society of Authors, and the Alliance of Independent Authors.

Education

Philosophy (BA Hons) (University of Sheffield)
MA (Distinction) in English Literature (Open University)

Social Media

Bluesky: @luciennebwrite.bsky.social

Pinterest: <https://www.pinterest.co.uk/LucienneBoyceWriter/>

Good Reads: http://www.goodreads.com/author/show/6437832.Lucienne_Boyce

Substack: This Writing Life With Lucienne Boyce, <https://lucienneboyce.substack.com/>

www.lucienneboyce.com

